A. The voter may contact the voter's aide or witness and request that the aide or witness cure the defect by appearing in person at the clerk's office and properly completing the affidavit or witness certification. If the aide or witness corrects the affidavit or witness certification as provided in this paragraph before the deadline for returning absentee ballots under section 755, the clerk shall accept the absentee ballot without challenge.

B. The voter may cure the defect by telephone by self-identifying by name, date of birth and residence address, confirming that the voter requested an absentee ballot and explaining whether a 3rd person other than the voter's immediate family member delivered or returned the absentee ballot or whether the voter received the assistance of an aide as described in section 754-A, subsection 3 in reading, marking or placing the ballot in the return envelope. C. If the voter does not cure the defect under the procedures in paragraph A or B before the deadline for returning absentee ballots under section 755, the clerk shall reject the ballot in accordance with section 759, subsection 3.

Sec. 27. 21-A MRSA §759, sub-§2, as amended by PL 2021, c. 273, §24, is further amended to read:

If the warden finds that the affidavit and the aide and witness certification, if required, are properly completed, that the clerk has verified that the signature on the envelope matches the signature on the application or that the voter confirmed that the voter personally signed the return envelope pursuant to section 756-A, subsection 2 when applicable, that the voter is registered and enrolled when necessary and that it contains the voter's Maine driver's license or nondriver identification card number or a copy of the voter's photographic identification, the warden shall then examine the incoming voting list to determine whether the voter voted in person at the election. The warden shall then announce the name of each absentee voter who has not voted at the election and remove each ballot from its envelope without destroying the envelope or unfolding the ballot. After having an election clerk from a political party different from that of the warden mark the letters "AV" beside the name of each absentee voter on the incoming voting lists and place a check mark or horizontal line in red ink on the list beside the voter's name, the warden shall accept the ballot.

Sec. 28. Effective date. This Act takes effect January 1, 2026.

SUMMARY

This initiated bill requires the presentation of photographic identification for in-person and absentee voting. Acceptable forms of photographic identification include an unexpired Maine driver's license, nondriver identification card, interim identification form issued by the Secretary of State, United States passport or United States passport card, United States military identification card, Maine National Guard identification card and United States Department of Veterans Affairs identification card. The bill directs the Secretary of State to provide free nondriver identification cards for photographic identification. The bill allows voters without photographic identification to complete a challenged ballot and within 4 days after the date of the election appear before the registrar of voters and present photographic identification. The bill also provides an exception for voters with religious objections to being photographed. The bill removes provisions of law that allow voters to make telephone applications for absentee ballots and that allow voters to automatically receive absentee ballots for each election without submitting a separate request for each election. It also provides that a municipality may have only one secured drop box for the return of absentee ballots.

Intent and Content
Prepared by the Office of the Attorney General
Question 1: Citizen Initiative

This citizen-initiated bill is intended to require voters to show one of several permitted forms of government-issued photographic identification when voting in person and to change absentee voting procedures to impose new requirements and restrictions.

The proposed law, if approved, would make the following substantive changes to Maine's voting laws:

In-person identification requirement. The proposed law would require a voter checking in at the voting place on election day to present one of several types of photo identification. Specifically, a voter would need to show a Maine driver's license, nondriver identification card, or interim identification card, a U.S. passport or passport card, or one of three types of military identification. A voter unable to show proper identification would be allowed to cast a ballot, but the ballot would not be counted unless the voter presents the required identification documents to their municipal registrar within four days of the election or submits an affidavit of religious objection.

No-cost identification cards. The proposed law would require the Secretary of State to issue no-cost nondriver identification cards to eligible voters who lack driver's licenses.

New ballot challenge provisions. The proposed law would allow voters in the same municipality to challenge a voter's in-person or absentee ballot for alleged failure to comply with identification requirements or for an alleged non-matching signature on their absentee ballot envelope.

Drop box restrictions. The proposed law would change requirements for absentee drop boxes in several ways:

- It would require drop boxes to be located outside the office of the municipal registrar and on the same property. Current law allows drop boxes to be located outside the municipal office building or the building where in-person absentee voting takes place.
- It would limit municipalities to a single drop box, eliminating the ability of municipalities to request permission from the Secretary of State to install additional drop boxes.

- It would require drop boxes to be maintained and serviced by bipartisan teams of election officials. Current law allows drop boxes to be maintained by the municipal clerk or a team of two of the clerk's designees.

Revised absentee ballot application. The proposed law would require voters completing a request for an absentee ballot to provide additional information on the application, including their Maine driver's license or nondriver identification card number or a photocopy of another form of permissible identification. The new requirements would apply to both paper and online requests. The municipal clerk would have to notify the applicant if their application is missing required information or is not on an appropriate form and cannot process the application unless any such defects are corrected.

Restrictions on family members. The proposed law would repeal the law allowing for a voter's immediate family member to request an absentee ballot on behalf of the voter. The proposed law would also repeal the law allowing an immediate family member to return a voter's absentee ballot by mail. An immediate family member could still personally deliver a voter's absentee ballot to the clerk.

New deadlines for requesting absentee ballots. The proposed law would require an application for an absentee ballot to be delivered to the municipal registrar no later than the close of business on the seventh day before the election. The proposed law would also require an application to be submitted no earlier than the first of the year in which the applicable election occurs or 90 days before the election, whichever is earlier. Existing law has no deadlines for submitting absentee ballot applications but bars issuance of absentee ballots after the third business day before election day unless the voter has certain special circumstances

Telephone requests prohibited. The proposed law would repeal the law allowing voters to request absentee ballots by telephone.

Ongoing absentee voter program ended. Current law allows voters who are seniors or people with disabilities to request ongoing absentee voter status. Voters with this status are automatically mailed absentee ballots without having to file a separate application for each election. The program is scheduled to expand on December 31, 2025, to all voters who ask to participate. The proposed law would end the program.

New absentee ballot identification envelope. The proposed law would require voters returning absentee ballots to seal them in an "identification envelope" that would be issued along with the ballot and the return envelope. The voter would have to complete a form printed on the outside of the identification envelope under penalty of unsworn falsification. Information required by the form would include the voter's driver's license or nondriver identification card number or a photocopy of permitted photo identification, and identification of the election in which the ballot is being cast. Election officials would be forbidden from pre-printing any responses on the form, except that a municipal clerk could, in most cases, preprint the voter's name and address.

Prepayment of postage banned. The proposed law would ban election officials from prepaying return postage for an absentee ballot.

Third-person rules repealed. The proposed law repeals procedures governing voting when a ballot is delivered or returned by a third person.

New rulemaking authority. The proposed law grants the Secretary of State authority to adopt rules regulating issuance of no-cost identification cards, and the requesting, issuing, and delivering of absentee ballots.

A "YES" vote is to enact the initiated legislation.

A "NO" vote opposes the initiated legislation.

Fiscal Impact Statement
Prepared by the Office of Fiscal and Program Review

This citizen initiative requires the presentation of photographic identification for in-person and absentee voting and specifies the various forms of photographic identification that are acceptable. The requirement that the Secretary of State provide free nondriver photographic identification cards will eliminate Highway fund revenue by an estimated $29,149 annually from the nondriver ID cards currently being sold for $5 each. The Secretary of State has indicated that the increased demand for free cards will require a General Fund appropriation of $635,000 and a Highway Fund allocation of $676,332 in fiscal year 2025-26 for a total of $1,311,332 to implement a voter photographic identification process. Costs include $600,000 for a TV and media campaign to inform the public, $206,096 for the production of cards, $35,000 for envelopes and shipping, $217,415 for technology, $61,829 for postage and $46,378 for office furniture, utilities and miscellaneous office costs. Two customer service representatives are estimated to cost $144,614 annually. The ongoing costs after the first year are projected to be $156,112 annually.

Every Mainer deserves strong, secure, and trustworthy elections. The YES on 1 Voter ID citizens' initiative delivers that security by requiring photo identification for both in-person voting and absentee voting, treating every ballot by the same fair standard.

Importantly, absentee voting remains FULLY available. Every registered Maine voter may still vote absentee, for any reason, just as they can now, by requesting a ballot in-person, online, or via mail in request form. The process remains open and accessible to seniors, people with disabilities, students, working families, service members, and ALL others who choose to vote from home. Yes on 1 implements a popular common-sense safeguard: voters will be required to show ID when voting, whether in person or by absentee ballot.

Showing ID is a simple and common-sense requirement Mainers already have in our daily life, whether cashing a check, boarding a plane, or picking up a package. Voting, our most important civic duty, should be held to that same standard of security. To guarantee full access to all, Yes on 1 also requires the State to provide a FREE photo ID to any voter who needs one.

By applying the same rules to both in-person and absentee voting, Yes on 1 strengthens election integrity, protects every legitimate ballot, and ensures confidence in Maine's democratic process. It preserves convenience while closing loopholes, giving voters the peace of mind that their voice will be heard and their vote will count.

This November, let's make Maine's elections stronger, fairer, and more secure. Vote YES on 1 and make Maine the 37th state with Voter ID.

Voting rights are under attack in Maine.

Question 1 will make it harder for people across the state to vote – especially older Mainers, Mainers with disabilities and Mainers who live in rural areas or who work long, unpredictable hours at their job.

The ballot question takes away local control and undermines the state’s successful absentee voting process. Absentee balloting is widely used in Maine, with 45% of all ballots cast absentee in November 2024.

Rigorous research shows that the changes proposed by Question 1 would dismantle absentee voting that nearly half of Mainers know and rely on.

Every registered voter in Maine – regardless of whether they are a Republican, Independent or Democrat – deserves the right to have their voice heard through the state’s safe and secure election process.

The president of the Maine Town and City Clerks Association, the people who oversee the state’s elections, said that Question 1 isn’t needed.

“It will hurt those that normally vote through absentee ballots, especially those that are homebound or have limited or unreliable transportation,” Dwayne Young said.

Question 1 is wrong for Maine. Elections here are already safe and secure. This ballot question makes it harder for registered voters to participate in elections and ties the hands of town clerks.

Vote “no” on Question 1 and save absentee voting in Maine.

This November, Disability Rights Maine urges Mainers to vote NO on Question 1. Every Mainer, regardless of political party, age, or where they live, has the right to vote. This ballot measure is a direct attack on that right, and it will adversely impact people with disabilities, older Mainers, rural voters and voters without transportation.

Attacking absentee voting is unnecessary, harmful, and undermines our state's long-standing tradition of secure and accessible elections. Nearly half of Mainers used absentee voting in the last election. For many, it is not just convenient, it is essential for their participation in Maine's elections.

If this initiative passes, disabled Mainers who rely upon absentee voting, will lose it. The window for early absentee voting will shrink by two days. It would prevent voters from calling their town clerk to request a ballot. Secure ballot drop boxes will be limited to one in each town, making it harder for rural voters and people with mobility challenges to return their ballots. It will stop towns from including return postage, even if taxpayers vote to fund it.

To put it simply, this measure dismantles a system that has long ensured that disabled voters voices are heard.

Mainers are proud of our high voter turnout and secure elections. We should be working to protect and expand voting access, not weaken it. By voting NO on Question 1, you are defending the right of every Mainer to participate fully in our democracy.

2. Venue. A proceeding under this chapter must be commenced in the judicial division where the respondent resides or where events that give rise to the petition occurred. §2244. Extreme risk protection orders

1. Petition. A family or household member, a law enforcement agency or a law enforcement officer may file a petition requesting that the court issue an extreme risk protection order in accordance with this subsection.

A. A petition filed pursuant to this subsection must allege that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

B. A significant danger of causing physical injury to another person may be shown by establishing that:

(1) The respondent has inflicted or attempted to inflict physical injury on another person;

(2) By the respondent's threats or actions, the respondent has placed another person in reasonable fear of physical injury; or

(3) By the respondent's actions or inactions, the respondent has presented a danger to another person in the respondent's care.

The court may consider any additional information the court finds to be reliable, including a statement by the respondent, or relevant information from family or household members concerning the respondent, and any other facts that the court finds to be relevant.

C. A significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent may be shown by establishing that the respondent has threatened or attempted suicide or has threatened or attempted serious bodily injury.

D. The petition must be supported by an affidavit or affidavits that:

(2) State whether the petitioner knows of any dangerous weapons in the respondent's possession, custody or control and the identity and location of any such weapons, if known;

(3) State whether the petitioner knows of an existing order issued with respect to the respondent under Title 5, section 4655 or Title 19-A, chapter 103 or a similar order issued by a court of competent jurisdiction in the United States or another state, territory, commonwealth or federally recognized Indian tribe; and

(4) Acknowledge that the petitioner is aware that it is a crime to make a false statement under oath in a court document.

E. The court shall provide forms to a petitioner filing a petition or any other necessary documents. The court may not provide assistance in filling out any such forms or in drafting legal documents or provide legal advice to a petitioner. The forms provided by the court under this paragraph must be uniform throughout the State and must include a summons and an affidavit for an extreme risk protection order. The summons must include a section on which the petitioner may list the places where the respondent may be located or may be available to be served.

F. A filing fee may not be required for a petition filed pursuant to this subsection.

2. Hearing. Except as provided in section 2245 with respect to an emergency extreme risk protection order, the court may grant relief only after notice to the respondent and an opportunity for a hearing. The petitioner has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

A. The court shall hold a hearing within 14 days after a petition is filed pursuant to this section. Notice of the hearing must be served pursuant to section 2247 concurrently with the petition and any ex parte order issued pursuant to section 2245. This section does not limit the court's discretion to continue the hearing upon the court's own motion or upon motion of either party.

B. The respondent has the right to be represented by counsel at a hearing. The court may, in its discretion, appoint counsel for an indigent party. The State is responsible for the cost of appointed counsel.

3. Orders. The court shall grant a petition and issue an extreme risk protection order if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

A. The court shall issue an order under this subsection prohibiting the respondent from purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon for a period of up to one year. The order must be signed in writing and include the following:

(1) A statement of the grounds for the issuance of the order;

(2) The name and address of the court where any filings must be made, the names of the parties, the date of the petition, the date and time of the order and the date and time the order expires;

"To the subject of this extreme risk protection order: This order is in effect until the date and time stated above. If you have not done so already, you are required to surrender all dangerous weapons in your possession, control or custody as directed in this order. While this order is in effect, you are not allowed to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon; attempt to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon; or have or attempt to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. You have the right to request one hearing to terminate this order during the period that this order is in effect, starting from the date of this order. You may seek the advice of an attorney regarding any matter connected with this order."

B. The court shall make either written findings of fact or oral findings of fact on the record. If a court denies a petition filed pursuant to this subsection, the court shall state the reason for the denial.

C. An order issued pursuant to this section must include the following statement: "VIOLATION OF THIS ORDER IS A CRIME AS PROVIDED BY THE MAINE REVISED STATUTES, TITLE 15, SECTION 393, AND MAY ALSO RESULT IN SANCTIONS FOR CONTEMPT PURSUANT TO THE MAINE RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE, RULE 66."

§2245. Emergency extreme risk protection orders

1. Petition. In filing a petition under this chapter, a petitioner may request that the court issue an emergency extreme risk protection order. An emergency extreme risk protection order may be issued ex parte, without prior notice to the respondent.

A. A petitioner seeking an emergency ex parte order shall indicate in the petition and affidavit or affidavits that emergency relief is requested because the respondent poses an immediate and significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. An affidavit must include specific facts supporting the statement that the respondent poses an immediate and significant danger.

B. A significant danger of causing physical injury to another person may be shown by establishing that:

- (1) The respondent has inflicted or attempted to inflict physical injury on another person;
- (2) By the respondent's threats or actions, the respondent has placed another person in reasonable fear of physical injury; or
- (3) By the respondent's actions or inactions, the respondent has presented a danger to another person in the respondent's care.

The court may consider any additional information the court finds to be reliable, including a statement by the respondent, or relevant information from family or household members concerning the respondent, and any other facts that the court finds to be relevant.

C. A significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent may be shown by establishing that the respondent has threatened or attempted suicide or has threatened or attempted serious bodily injury.

D. The court may issue an emergency extreme risk protection order if the petition and affidavit or affidavits present good cause that the respondent poses an immediate and significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

E. The court shall decide whether to grant or deny the petition and issue the order on the basis of the contents of the petition and the affidavit or affidavits provided. If the petition is granted, the court shall immediately sign the original order, enter on its face the exact date and time it is issued and transmit a copy to the petitioner by reliable electronic means, such as e-mail. Upon issuance of an order, a copy must be served on the respondent pursuant to section 2247.

F. The court may issue an emergency extreme risk protection order by reliable electronic means pursuant to this subsection if requested by the petitioner.

2. Order. An order issued pursuant to this section may prohibit for a period of up to 14 days the respondent from purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. This section does not limit the court's discretion to continue the final hearing and extend the order upon the court's own motion or upon the motion of either party.

A. The order must be in writing and include the following:

(1) A statement of the grounds for the issuance of the order;

(2) The name and address of the court where any filings must be made, the names of the parties, the date of the petition, the date and time of the order and the date and time the order expires;

(3) The date and time of the hearing under subsection 3, paragraph A when the respondent may appear to contest the order before the court. The opportunity to contest the order must be scheduled as soon as reasonably possible, but may not be more than 14 days after the date of the issuance of the order unless extended upon the court's own motion or upon the motion of either party;

(4) A description of the requirements for relinquishment and return of dangerous weapons under section 2250; and

(5) A statement in substantially the following form:

"To the subject of this emergency extreme risk protection order: This order is in effect until the date and time stated above. If you have not done so already, you are required to surrender all dangerous weapons in your possession, control or custody as directed in this order. While this order is in effect, you are not allowed to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon; attempt to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon; or have or attempt to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. A hearing will be held on the date and time noted above to determine if an extreme risk protection order should be issued. Failure to appear at that hearing may result in the court making an order against you that is valid for up to one year. You may request an extension of the hearing date. You may seek the advice of an attorney regarding any matter connected with this order. An attorney may be appointed at the discretion of the court to represent you if you cannot afford one."

B. An order issued pursuant to this section must include the following statement: "VIOLATION OF THIS ORDER IS A CRIME SUBJECT TO A TERM OF IMPRISONMENT OR A FINE, OR BOTH, AS PROVIDED BY THE MAINE REVISED STATUTES, TITLE 15, SECTION 393, AND MAY ALSO RESULT IN SANCTIONS FOR CONTEMPT PURSUANT TO THE MAINE RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE, RULE 66."

If a court denies a petition filed pursuant to this subsection, the court shall state the reason for the denial, which may include either written findings of fact or oral findings of fact on the record.

3. Duration. The duration of an emergency extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to this section is as follows.

A. Unless the petition is voluntarily dismissed pursuant to paragraph B, the court shall hold a hearing within 14 days after the issuance of an emergency extreme risk protection order to determine if an extreme risk protection order should be issued. If not voluntarily dismissed, the emergency extreme risk protection order expires when the court grants or denies a petition for an extreme risk protection order in accordance with section 2244, subsection 3.

B. The petitioner may voluntarily dismiss a petition filed pursuant to this section at any time prior to the hearing required under paragraph A if the petitioner determines the respondent no longer poses an immediate and significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. If the petitioner voluntarily dismisses the petition pursuant to this paragraph, the court shall vacate the emergency extreme risk protection order and direct a law enforcement agency in possession of a dangerous weapon belonging to the respondent to return it to the respondent consistent with section 2250.

§2246. Termination and renewal motions

1. Motion to terminate. A motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2244 is subject to the provisions of this subsection.

A. The respondent may file a motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2244 or an order renewed under subsection 2. A motion to terminate may not be filed more than once during the effective period of the order.

B. The motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order and notice of a hearing on the motion must be served on the petitioner pursuant to section 2247.

C. The court shall grant a motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order if it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the respondent no longer poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

D. An order on a motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order must state the reason for the denial or granting of the motion.

E. The court shall provide forms to a party filing a motion to terminate an extreme risk protection order. The form provided by the court must be uniform throughout the State.

2. Motion to renew. A motion to renew an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2244 is subject to the provisions of this subsection.

A. A petitioner may file a motion to renew an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2244 or renewed pursuant to this subsection for an additional period of up to one year. The motion must be accompanied by an affidavit and must be filed not more than 30 days and not less than 14 days before the expiration date of the order.

The motion and affidavit must comply with the requirements of section 2244, subsection 1.

B. The court shall hold a hearing within 14 days after a motion to renew an extreme risk protection order under paragraph A is filed. Notice of the hearing must be served pursuant to section 2247. The court may extend an extreme risk protection order at the time of expiration, upon motion of the petitioner, for additional time as the court determines necessary to hold a hearing on a motion to renew.

C. The court may grant relief only after notice to the respondent and an opportunity for a hearing. The court may grant the motion and renew an extreme risk protection order for an additional period of up to one year if it finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the respondent continues to pose a significant danger of causing physical injury to the respondent or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. An order on a motion to renew must comply with the requirements of section 2244, subsection 3.

D. The court shall provide forms to a party filing a motion to renew an extreme risk protection order. The form provided by the court must be uniform throughout the State.

§2247. Service

1. Form of service; transmittal. A petition, emergency extreme risk protection order, extreme risk protection order or notice of a hearing issued pursuant to this chapter must be served by a law enforcement officer in accordance with the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure. A court that issues an order under this chapter shall promptly transmit the order electronically or by other means to a law enforcement agency for service and shall deliver a copy to the appropriate law enforcement agency.

2. Service on respondent. A respondent who attends a hearing held under section 2244, 2245 or 2246 at which an emergency extreme risk protection order or extreme risk protection order is issued and who receives notice from the court at the hearing that the order has been issued is deemed to have been served. Regardless of whether the court has previously notified the respondent of the order, the court shall transmit the order for service on the respondent by a law enforcement agency.

3. Performance of service. A petition, emergency extreme risk protection order, extreme risk protection order or notice of a hearing issued pursuant to this chapter must be served in a manner calculated to ensure the safety of the parties. Law enforcement agencies must have a written policy that prioritizes methods of service that do not involve advance notification of a request for an emergency extreme risk protection order to the respondent. The law enforcement agency shall make a good faith effort to serve process expeditiously. Notice of an emergency extreme risk protection order must be served as soon as practicable, but no later than 24 hours after issuance of the order. The law enforcement officer making service shall file a return of service with the court stating the date, time and place at which the order was delivered personally to the respondent.

4. Service of termination and renewal. A motion to terminate or renew an extreme risk protection order must be served by a law enforcement officer in accordance with the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure. A notice of hearing may be provided in accordance with the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure.

§2248. Procedure

1. Fee. A fee may not be charged for forms or for filing a petition, motion or other request for relief under this chapter.

2. Rules; other actions not barred. Proceedings commenced under this chapter must be in accordance with the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure. A proceeding under this chapter is in addition to any other available civil or criminal remedies. This chapter may not be construed to be applicable to actions under Title 19-A, chapter 103.

3. Assistance by law enforcement. Law enforcement agencies shall assist in carrying out the intent of this chapter.

§2249. Enforcement and entering of orders

1. Law enforcement officers and agencies. Law enforcement officers are authorized to enforce orders issued pursuant to this chapter. A law enforcement agency shall adopt a written policy on the enforcement of this chapter and the handling of extreme risk protection orders.

2. Failure to comply with order. A person who knowingly violates an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2244 or renewed pursuant to section 2246 or an emergency extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to section 2245 is subject to sanctions for contempt pursuant to the Maine Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 66 and prosecution pursuant to state law, including, but not limited to, Title 15, section 393.

3. Notice to State Bureau of Identification; national background check. The court clerk shall forward a copy of an extreme risk protection order or emergency extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to this chapter the same day the order is issued to the Department of Public Safety, Bureau of State Police, State Bureau of Identification. The order must remain in each system for the duration of time it is in effect, and the law enforcement agency shall promptly remove expired or terminated orders.

4. Penalty for submitting false information. A person who submits materially false information in support of or in opposition to a petition for an extreme risk protection order under this chapter, knowing that material information in the petition or the affidavit is false or that the petition or affidavit is submitted with the intent to harass, is guilty of a Class C crime.

5. Warrantless arrest. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, an arrest for criminal violation of an order issued pursuant to this chapter may be without warrant upon probable cause whether or not the violation is committed in the presence of a law enforcement officer. The law enforcement officer may verify, if necessary, the existence of the order, including by telephone or radio communication with a law enforcement agency with knowledge of the order.

§2250. Relinquishment of dangerous weapon

1. Relinquishment by respondent. A respondent who is required to relinquish a dangerous weapon in the respondent's possession, custody or control under an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to this chapter, upon service of the order, shall immediately relinquish the dangerous weapon to the law enforcement officer serving the order. A respondent notified by the court at a hearing is required to immediately cooperate with a law enforcement officer to come into compliance with the provisions of the order.

2. Warrant authorizing search and seizure. If a law enforcement agency demonstrates that there is probable cause to believe that the respondent will not relinquish a dangerous weapon, a court may issue a search warrant authorizing a law enforcement agency to seize any dangerous weapon at any location at the time of the issuance of the extreme risk protection order. A court may also issue a search warrant if a law enforcement agency demonstrates that there is probable cause to believe that any dangerous weapon has not been relinquished by the respondent.

3. Treatment of seized dangerous weapon. A law enforcement agency that takes possession of a dangerous weapon shall store the dangerous weapon at the law enforcement agency's facility or a tribal, regional or state public safety facility.

4. Lawful sale of dangerous weapons not affected. This section may not be construed to prohibit the lawful sale of a dangerous weapon by the lawful owner.

5. Release of dangerous weapon within 3 days. A law enforcement agency may release to the respondent a dangerous weapon relinquished pursuant to an extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to this chapter upon expiration of the extreme risk protection order in effect at the time of the request by the respondent and completion of a background check using the Federal Bureau of Investigation, National Instant Criminal Background Check System in a manner consistent with federal law. The dangerous weapon must be returned within 3 business days of the request.

6. When return prohibited. Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter to the contrary:

A. A dangerous weapon may not be returned to the respondent if the respondent's possession of the dangerous weapon is prohibited by state or federal law; and

B. A dangerous weapon may not be returned pursuant to this section if the dangerous weapon is evidence in a pending criminal matter.

§2251. Appeals

An extreme risk protection order issued pursuant to this chapter is a final order for the purposes of appeal.

§2252. Data and reporting

1. Annual report; submission to Legislature. The State Court Administrator, acting at the direction of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, shall prepare an annual report on and relating to the application of this chapter by the courts. By January 1, 2027 and annually thereafter, the State Court Administrator shall prepare and submit the report to the joint standing committee of the Legislature having jurisdiction over civil rights matters.

2. Report requirements. The report required by this section must contain the following:

- L. Demographic data regarding the individuals who have been petitioners and respondents in actions for extreme risk protection orders.

Sec. 7. Department of Public Safety to obtain federal funding; report. By January 1, 2027, the Department of Public Safety shall report to the joint standing committee of the Legislature having jurisdiction over civil rights matters the status of the state-level process currently under way to obtain federal funding for storing dangerous weapons in the custody of state, county and municipal law enforcement agencies.

SUMMARY

This initiated bill enacts the Extreme Risk Protection Order Act. Under the bill, a petition for an extreme risk protection order, which prohibits the purchase, possession or control of a dangerous weapon, may be sought if a person is suspected of posing a significant danger of causing physical injury to the person or to another person. A significant danger of causing physical injury to the person or another person is demonstrated by establishing that the person has inflicted or attempted to inflict physical injury on another person; placed another person in reasonable fear of physical injury; by action or inaction, presented a danger to persons in the person's care; or threatened or attempted suicide or has threatened or attempted serious bodily injury. The petition may be filed by a family or household member of the person or by a law enforcement agency or a law enforcement officer and must be supported by an affidavit stating the facts to support the allegations, identifying any dangerous weapons believed to be in the person's possession and stating whether the person is already the subject of an existing protection from harassment or protection from abuse order. Upon receipt of the petition and affidavit, the District Court is required to schedule a hearing, which must be held within 14 days of the filing of the petition, and provide notice of the hearing to the person who is the subject of the requested extreme risk protection order. Following the hearing, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that the person poses a significant risk of causing physical injury to the person or to another person, the court must issue an order prohibiting, for up to one year, the person from purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon, attempting to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon or having custody or control of a dangerous weapon.

The bill allows a court to issue an emergency extreme risk protection order without prior notice to the person who is the subject of the requested order. A hearing must be scheduled no later than 14 days after the order is issued.

An extreme risk protection order may be terminated upon the request of the person who is the subject of the order if that person shows by clear and convincing evidence that the person no longer poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to the person or another person. An extreme risk protection order may be renewed for an additional period of up to one year.

A person who is the subject of an extreme risk protection order must immediately surrender all dangerous weapons in that person's possession, custody or control to a law enforcement agency.

The bill directs the State Court Administrator to report annually regarding data related to this legislation. It also directs the Department of Public Safety to submit a report to the joint standing committee of the Legislature having jurisdiction over civil rights matters on the status of obtaining federal funding related to storing dangerous weapons in the custody of law enforcement agencies.

Question 2: Citizen Initiative

This citizen-initiated bill is intended to establish a process by which law enforcement and certain family and household members can ask a court to issue an “extreme risk protection order” temporarily prohibiting a person (the “respondent”) from having dangerous weapons.

Who can petition a court. The proposed law would allow the following persons to ask for an extreme risk protection order:

- state, county, tribal, municipal, or University of Maine System law enforcement agencies;
- law enforcement officers other than federal law enforcement officers;
- the respondent’s current or former spouse or domestic partner;
- a parent of the respondent’s child;
- the respondent’s adult child or sibling;
- the respondent’s parent;
- an individual presently or formerly living with the respondent as a spouse; or,
- an adult presently living with the respondent.

Required showing. Under the proposed law, someone petitioning the court for an extreme risk protection order would need to allege that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to themselves or another person by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. The petitioner would need to submit one or more sworn statements containing certain information supporting their allegations. A significant danger could be shown by establishing that (a) the respondent has inflicted or attempted to inflict physical injury on another person, (b) the respondent has placed another person in reasonable fear of physical injury by their threats or actions, (c) the respondent has presented a danger to another person in the respondent’s care by their actions or inactions, or (d) the respondent has threatened or attempted suicide or has threatened or attempted to cause themselves serious bodily injury.

Rights of the parties. The respondent would have the right to be notified of the petition and the opportunity for a hearing, to be held within 14 days after the petition is filed. The respondent would have the right to be represented by counsel at the hearing. The court could, in its discretion, appoint counsel for an indigent party at no cost to the party.

Issuance of the order. To issue an extreme risk protection order, the court would have to find by a preponderance of evidence that the respondent poses a significant danger of causing physical injury to themselves or another person by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. The order would prohibit the respondent from purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon for up to one year. The court's order must be in writing and contain certain information, including the grounds for the order and a description of how to appeal or request termination of the order.

Early termination of order. The proposed law sets forth procedures for the respondent to request termination of an extreme risk protection order after it is issued. To terminate an order, the court would need to find by clear and convincing evidence that the respondent no longer poses the required significant danger.

Renewal of order. The proposed law sets forth procedures for a petitioner to seek renewal of an expiring extreme risk protection order for an additional period of up to one year. The court must hold a hearing and, to renew the order, must find by a preponderance of evidence that the respondent continues to pose the required significant danger. Orders would be renewable multiple times.

Emergency orders. The proposed law also sets forth a procedure by which a petitioner could request an "emergency" extreme risk protection order without notice to the respondent. The court could issue such an order if the petition and accompanying affidavits presented good cause that the respondent poses an "immediate and significant" danger of causing physical injury to themselves or to another person by purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon or by having or attempting to have custody or control of a dangerous weapon. Upon issuing such an emergency order, the court must notify the respondent and schedule a hearing within 14 days to determine if a standard extreme risk protection order should be issued. The emergency order would remain in effect for up to 14 days unless the court extends it in connection with a continuance of the final hearing.

A "YES" vote is to enact the initiated legislation.

A "NO" vote opposes the initiated legislation.

Fiscal Impact Statement
Prepared by the Office of Fiscal and Program Review

This citizen initiative requires a District Court to schedule a hearing within 14 days of the filing of a petition for an extreme protection order. If the court finds that a person poses a significant risk of causing physical injury to the person or to another person, the court must issue an order prohibiting, for up to one year, the person from purchasing, possessing or receiving a dangerous weapon, attempting to purchase, possess or receive a dangerous weapon or having custody or control of a dangerous weapon. The initiative allows the court to terminate the order if the person who is subject to the order can show clear and convincing evidence that the person is no longer a threat. The Administrative Office of the Courts has indicated that the Maine Judicial Branch will require annual General Fund appropriations of approximately $1,126,000 to establish 2 Judge positions, 2 Marshal positions and 2 Assistant Clerk positions to handle the increased workload expected to be generated by the extreme risk protection order process. Additional one-time General Fund appropriations of approximately $76,000 are also anticipated to be required for significant system programming updates and for temporary contracted staffing to manage the additional filings prior to electronic implementation of the process.

There may be additional costs to state, county, tribal, municipal or University of Maine System law enforcement agencies for the collection and storage of firearms. The Department of Public Safety is tasked with reporting to the Legislature by January 1, 2027 on the status of state-level efforts to obtain federal funding for such storage. The probability of obtaining funding cannot be determined at this time.

The State has an existing program to provide counsel to represent indigent individuals. Whether this citizen initiative will generate enough additional requests for state-sponsored counsel to require additional appropriations will not be known until the initiative has been enacted into law long enough to obtain experience.

When a person is in crisis and threatening to harm themselves or others, they often exhibit clear warning signs that family members are the first to see. But Maine's current law gives families no way to take action.

In the case of Lewiston, this gap in our current law failed us terribly. The gunman's family knew he posed a threat and repeatedly asked the police for help, but the law gave the family no way to take action. Later, a state investigation reported that our laws were too burdensome and weak to prevent this tragedy or tragedies like it.

Extreme Risk Protection Orders empower families to go directly to a court and temporarily prevent someone, who a court deems dangerous, from accessing deadly weapons. In the case of Lewiston, had this measure been in place, perhaps one of the many warnings about the would-be shooter would have resulted in action and the tragedy could have been prevented.

But we can help prevent future tragedies and save lives by voting 'YES' on Question 2 to pass an Extreme Risk Protection Order law. In 2021 firearms became the leading cause of death for American children and teens. Other states have used these laws to disarm people who threatened mass shootings, including school shootings. These laws are also effective in preventing suicides, which make up nearly 90 percent of all gun deaths in Maine.

Maine has a deep tradition of hunting, sport shooting, and gun rights, and we believe that with rights come responsibilities like keeping firearms out of dangerous hands. People experiencing a mental health crisis need help, not easy access to guns, and this measure allows families to step in when a loved one is in crisis. Vote 'YES' on Question 2 to keep our families, schools, and communities safe.
